I have some questions for you…

1. What does ready mean? And how does one know if they are ready for something?

2. What could happen if we disagree on what ready means?

3. What might happen if we start something that isn't ready?

Definition of Ready (DoR)

"Product Backlog items that can be done by the Scrum Team within one Sprint are deemed ready for selection…after refining activities."

— Scrum Guide
